

DEEP DOWN,
YOU KNOW YOU'RE
ONE OF US.

For as long as you can remember, people have always looked up to you – in school, in sports, around the neighborhood. You know there's just one place for someone with your potential. Once you've earned the respect of your fellow recruits by making it through 13 weeks of tough, physically demanding training, you'll know you're where you were meant to be – wearing the uniform of the most respected force on earth as a U.S. Marine.
